his activities, friends and acquaintances. The personnel office also inquires in detail as to the intended activities of the Military Attache while in Czechoslovakia. Several days after his initial visit to the Department Chief, the Military Attache returns for a meeting at which the Chief of the Second Department usually presides. The Chiefs of Departments A, B, and E, and sometimes other departmental chiefs attend this meeting. At this meeting the Military Attache is required to give a detailed report on the military potential of the country in which he has been serving. After hearing his report, the others present usually pose specific questions.
